

ACAA and Fellow Associations Welcome Maria Cino to the World of Aviation

The ACAA, along with other associations, had the pleasure of welcoming Maria Cino, Deputy Secretary of Transportation, to the world of aviation at a reception in her honor on July 28, 2005. The reception was attended by her colleagues in government and industry.

From her years of service in the Department of Commerce, Ms. Cino brings a wealth of management experience to the Department that is critical to the challenges of the air service industry. We look forward to working with Ms. Cino in our continued efforts to bring affordable airfares to all American travelers and to further the dream of airline deregulation.

Ed Faberman, ACAA Executive Director, introduces Deputy Secretary Cino to attendees.
