Karin Glasgow has been named as Chief of Stakeholder Affairs for TSNM
Commercial Aviation

Ed Faberman, Executive Director of ACAA, congratulates Karin Glasgow for being named Chief of Stakeholder Affairs for TSA's TSNM Commercial Aviation. Karin has extensive experience working with the aviation community. Karin is currently Branch Chief of Stakeholders Relations for TSNM Commercial Airlines.

Before joining TSA, Karin worked in the Secretary of Transportation's Office of Government Affairs. While at DOT, Karin addressed aviation safety where she worked closely with the FAA and the TSA. Before joining DOT, Karin worked as the Government and Public Affairs Manager on converting the former Marine Corps Air Station at El Toro into a commercial airport in Orange County, California.

In her new role, Karin will work closely with both Commercial Airline and Commercial Airport stakeholders. She will be charged with building and maintaining strong security networks and working collaboratively with key commercial aviation stakeholders to develop efficient and effective security policies, programs, and practices.

Ed Faberman added, "We look forward to continuing to work with Karin and the entire TSA management team to make the world's best aviation system even stronger and more secure."
